Dear Aviva,

Congratulations!

We are pleased to offer you admission to the Master of Engineering in Advanced Manufacturing and Design degree program in the Department of Mechanical Engineering at MIT. The admissions process was the most competitive so far, and we are proud to include you in an impressive and highly selective group.

HEMANSHU BRAHMBHATT

We are committed to providing a rigorous and engaging academic program while nurturing a supportive and diverse MEng cohort participating fully in the broader MIT community. Please visit our website, manufacturing.mit.edu, where you can find details on the curriculum, information on industry projects and the experiences of alumni. Our alumni network and industry relationships span the globe, providing a community and connection to The Institute that remains strong long after the Master's Thesis is submitted.

HEMANSHU BRAHMBHATT

The planning guide, <http://gradadmissions.mit.edu/about/incoming-student-resources>, will answer many questions regarding attending MIT. Please note several deadlines including admissions acceptance, housing, and loan applications occur around April 15, 2020. Please be sure to return the MIT Graduate Admissions Reply Form, to indicate your acceptance or rejection of this admission offer by that date. For many forms, you will need your MIT ID#, which is 919098181.

HEMANSHU BRAHMBHATT

We sincerely look forward to welcoming you Cambridge this fall as part of the "MechE MEng" class of 2021.

Should you have further question, please contact Jose J. Pacheco (jpacheco@mit.edu) or Samantha Young at (samyoun@mit.edu).

Dear Vaibhavi,

TOPMOST BUSINESS SCHOOL, EU.

I am pleased to inform you that you have officially been accepted to the Full-time MSc. Program, starting in September 2020. Congratulations!

All members of the MSc Admissions Committee were very impressed by your motivation and the submitted documents showing a solid education and high analytical skills. With your international background and your profound work experience you are an enrichment for our next MSc. class.

I will issue the official admissions documents and forward them to the Academic Director of the MSc. Program and the Executive Management of HHL for signature. As soon as they have been signed, I will send you a soft copy which you then kindly sign on your side and email back. After receiving the commitment fee of 1,000 EUR and the signed soft copy, I will send you the hard copies of the admission documents including the visa letter to your address via courier. As deadline for the commitment fee January 3rd, 2020 has been set.

HEMANSHU BRAHMBHATT

We highly recommend retaking the GMAT exam and reaching a score of 650 in order to remain competitive within the future class. However, your admission is not depending on a higher GMAT score.

HEMANSHU BRAHMBHATT

There are a few more fun benefits that we would like to offer you now that you have been admitted to the MSc. program.

HJB

1. Whatsapp: We would love to send you some #HHLspirit snapshots via Whatsapp between now and the start of the program. This includes some snaps of current life and events at HHL, useful advice for your preparations before coming to HHL, and also some insights into what is happening in Leipzig and what awaits you here. Please send me your Whatsapp number if you wish to receive these. Once you have signed your study agreement, I will also be able to add you to the Whatsapp group, so you can start meeting your future classmates.
2. Buddy Program: We would like to pair you up with a current student to be your buddy - your point of contact for any questions about student life etc. Kindly let me know if you consent to us sharing your email address with one of our students.

HJB

Once again, congratulations and we are looking forward to meeting you in person on our campus!

Best regards,

HJB

Disclaimer: This is not intended to be an official document. Official decisions are communicated through the mail on official Wharton Office of Admissions letterhead.

Dear Mr. Gadkari,

Congratulations! On behalf of the entire Admissions Committee, it is my great pleasure to announce that you have been selected to join the Wharton MBA Class of 2001. Your outstanding record of personal accomplishment and academic achievement has clearly distinguished you in this highly competitive and selective applicant pool, and we hope you will choose to join this exciting class at The Wharton School.

As a Wharton student, you will benefit from the School's tradition of redefining management education by focusing on the real-world application of classroom knowledge. You will find ample resources and opportunities at Wharton to refine your management skills as you receive the most advanced global management education available today. Our curriculum combines the School's strengths in specialized fields, with standard-setting faculty and courses in emerging fields. Although students have flexibility in designing their curricula, the Core Curriculum produces the breadth and depth of managerial perspective-and thus the ability to succeed in a global marketplace-that only an integrated approach to management education can ensure.

In addition to Wharton's world-renowned faculty and individualized curricula, you will learn from an extraordinary group of people-your classmates. Among the 765 entering students, you will find an astounding array of formidable talent, leadership, experience, maturity, and unique insights gained from diverse backgrounds. We are confident that you and your classmates will both contribute to and benefit from the dynamic, international Wharton MBA community.

While we are eager for you to join the Class of 2001, we realize fully the importance of the decision you must make. Your acceptance packet will be sent to you via regular mail within the next few weeks. In this packet, you will find detailed
